NEW FRONTIERS IN VETERINARY MEDICINE
Founded in Germany in 1953, our membership community encompasses over 112 different universities located in over 60 countries, comprising a total of approximately 40,000 individuals. IVSA is a non-profit, non-governmental organization.

“IVSA exists to benefit the animals and humans of the world, by harnessing the potential and dedication of veterinary students to promote the international application of veterinary skills, education, and knowledge.”

We seek to:

• Encourage veterinary students to use their knowledge and abilities for the benefit of both animals and humans
• Raise the overall standard of veterinary education worldwide
• Actively support measures to improve the standard of animal welfare
• Provide opportunities for veterinary students to undertake education in important areas outside traditional veterinary training
• Encourage cooperation between members, veterinary students associations, and international organizations

Our mission is achieved through our annual Symposium and Congress, maintenance of permanent on-going projects, facilitation of exchanges, and monthly publications.
